STEAMER PRINZ JOACHIM RUNS AGROUND ON BAHAMA ISLANDS KEY

New York, Nov 22—Whether or not the eighty-seven passengers of the steamer Prinz Joachim, which went ashore on Atwood Key, near Samana Island in the Bahamas early today had been transferred this evening as expected to Ward line steamers, one of which a late afternoon message said was already standing by, could not be learned up to a late hour tonight, owing to the interruption of wireless communication

For hours, wireless stations in this vicinity were unable to communicate with the Prinz Joachim because of the interference of other aerial messages. Up to 10 o'clock tonight the Hamburg line officials here had received no further advices than that the steamer Seguranca of the Ward line was standing by the stranded steamer that another Ward liner, the Vigilancia was also expected tonight and that the arrangements to take off the passengers were being made. Among the Prinz Joachim s passengers are William J Bryan his wife and grandchild.

Transfer to Begin at 6

An afternoon message said the transfer of passengers would begin about 6 o clock At the United Wireless offices it was said it might be midnight or early morning or after "all the other wireless operators had gone to bed that communication would be re-established with the stranded vessel or the other ships in the vicinity about 1,000 miles from New York

"No less than five ships and possibly seven, according to tonight s advice, are on their way to the assistance of the Prinz Joachim

The United States revenue cutter Algonquin has been dispatched from San Juan, Porto Rico and is expected on the scene tomorrow afternoon, the naval tug Peoria and the French cable steamer lying in Guantanamo harbor, Cuba, likewise, have been dispatched to the Prinz Joachim and probably will reach her tomorrow at noon. The wrecking tug Premier left Kingston, Jamaica, this afternoon and will probably reach the boat by Friday.

Other Vessels Aid

The Ward Liner Seguranaca is already on the scene and another Ward liner, the Vigilancia bound for San Francisco is due to reach the stranded vessel s side tonight The Hamburg American line ship Alleghany and the Panama line steamer Colon are also reported in wireless messages to be proceeding to the Prinz Joachim

The few personal messages received during the day gave assurance that the passengers were safe Among th messages was one from Lucien Wulsin Jr to his father, sai dto be a close friend of President Taft whose home is in Cincinnati His message read

All safe Expect to continue voyage

The transfer of passengers, which was presumed to be going on tonight was not expected to be attended by great difficult, said the Hamburg American line officials as the weather was reported favorable

The Prinz Joachim sailed with a full cargo of general merchandise principaly beef soap flour and machinery With these provisions she drew a full draught of water fore ward and aft which may account for her grounding in a place she might otherwise have cleared

TWO WOMEN ATTACKED BY THE SAME NEGRO MAN

Coatesville Pa. Nov 22—Another attempted outrage by a negro upon a white woman occurred here today and a few hours later the same negro it is believed by the police officials, attempted to hold up Mrs. Fred Russell, who was driving near where the first attack occurred

The intended victim of the negro in the first instance was the wife of a mill worker here She fought the man off after having been twice thrown to the ground. As she was fast losing her strength a carriage driven by Miss Johanna Irwin came into view and the negro left his intended victim and disappeared into the woods. The search for the negro was kept up until dark but no trace of him was found

A short time later as Mrs. Russell was driving on the same road, a negro jumped out and brandishing a pistol attempted to catch her horse by the bridal. Mrs Russell gave the animal a cut with her whip and managed to escape.

STORY OF YOUNG BRIDE NOT BELIEVED BY JURY

Tampa Fla, Nov 22—The killing of C F. Perry, a fruit grower, near Valaha yesterday by W. T. Green and C F Pantley, Jr, when Perry was overtaken in the woods with the 16 year-old bride of Pantley, was held to be justifiable homicide at the preliminary trial today

On the witness stand Mrs. Pantley testified that her husband shot Perry down as he was running away The fact that the fatal wounds were in the dead man's breast, however, controverted the young woman's statement.

Pantley and his wife had only been married about six months.

UNDESIRABLE IMMIGRANTS

This country is proverbially the [illegible] melting pot of the world. At the same time the federal government has always held the privilege of immigration at too low a price. In recent years we have begun to appreciate the inferior additions to our population.

The country is large. Expansive acres are open to cultivation. New comers are welcomed in all communities, but new comers of a desirable character are the new comers who do good.

Every growing section of the country offers inducements to the homeseeker. The foreign and overcrowded countries around hear of this and the sons and daughters of the impoverished families seek the new world for new homes. Most of them establish themselves build upon a venturesome foundation and win success in the end. Some do not better their conditions. The labor importers bring them here with alluring promises and leave them no better off than they were in the old home. It is this which has caused Austria Hungary to prohibit immigration to the coal fields of Pennsylvania.

There is another view of the immigration problem. In our eagerness to increase the population of the country we close our eyes and permit many undesirable citizens to become citizens of the United States. We open the gates and welcome the strangers, which is proper but we open the gates and permit strangers to enter whom we would do well to return to the country from whence they came.

The fact that we permit undesirable citizens to pass through our friendly gates has become relatively more and more accentuated with the gradual change in our social conditions and economic conditions. In the report of the commissioner general of immigration, just issued due emphasis is laid upon the folly of admitting feeble-minded children but at the same time it is plainly indicated without a laborious and costly system of surveillance and of investigation of family heredity the exclusion of those that are very young would be almost impossible. It might be accomplished, but it would necessarily involve arbitrary measures based to an extent, upon suspicion.

In such cases the result would often be an injustice and an undeserved hardship. For lack of means to discern feeble mindedness of children or less than school age, the federal government is therefore in a peculiar position and gives the stranger the benefit of doubt.

The federal government can and should exercise more precaution in the admission of adults who come into this country for purposes of prostitution and crime. If the government guards the older ones the young will not cause much alarm for they may be weak or feeble minded, but they can do no wrong at the age of infancy.—Commercial Appeal.

WHEN SI COMES TO DOTHAN

When Si Higgins comes to Dothan to help Judge [illegible] with the moonshine cases, Andes Land should give the train and the crowd a chance. Si Higgins if you haven't forgotten is the man who led to the [illegible] of Houston county's citizens to [illegible] to make [illegible] quit [illegible] in the court room. Si [illegible] feel strange [illegible] nerve not often found [illegible] United States [illegible] proper authority and [illegible] government behind him.

Si did in coming to Dothan [illegible] not citizen has been able to do [illegible]

(or maybe so, ma'am, who didn't know it was bad form to smoke in a court room—a United States court room at that.

As soon as Si arrives he will be interviewed by our crack court reporter [illegible]

[illegible] Not !

[illegible]

By the time [illegible] is issued Judge Jones will go and one or two courts to Dothan he may have the natives of Dothan and Houston county so tame that they will not dare approach the presence of the court officials except with hat in hand [illegible] should thank our stars if we get through with this session of court without [illegible] jail.

WOMEN VOTING

If the women don't measure up better as jurors and mayors and such things as we are unable to say just now how long we will hold out in our demand that they be allowed a vote. Out in Kansas where a woman is trying to run the town as mayor a row has been up since she qualified. The town row has grown till some of the citizens are wanting to suppress the news items. Down in the Lincoln County [illegible]. Out in California where women have been acting in the capacity as jurors they have not been able to reach a verdict. Not even when the judge told them what their verdict must be have they been able to agree—not with his honor.

We say now that if women expect to ever vote in Alabama their sisters in other states will have to get over some shortcomings piled up against them.

TOO LATE

The bankers pledged fifty million dollars to growers of cotton to hold their crop. The pledge shows a good spirit but does no good comparatively. The farmers needed the pledge two months ago before they were forced to sell their cotton to pay pressing obligations. There are many now, who are holding cotton but they are men who can afford to hold it all next year. The men who would have been most benefitted by such a pledge, haven't anything left but the cotton stalks.

This pledge was made in New York a day or two ago and is made in good faith of course but unfortunately it was not started early enough in the season.

OTHER EXCUSES

About the time a man thinks he has a political job nailed down some fellow comes along with a crow bar and begins to prize up something. The man holding the job says he ought to be given endorsement by election the second time. The man on the outside looking in will tell you that the fellow on the inside has had it once and ought to be satisfied that the job should be passed around. When one gets in a notion to run for a job there is no end to the excuses that can be scraped up.

When the excuses are all boiled down they are like George Pilcher's negro. [illegible] counts it.

The Constitution has thought of something. It wants to know why some one doesn't start up a correspondence school on how to sweat in the winter time. [illegible]

[illegible] only $100 [illegible] but if some convenience for the county. A few old time people might ask what would be needed if plenty of soap and water, and a mop were used in the jail.

Every little while to pull off some big stunt the railroad companies will take a couple of old locomotives and run them together to show the crowd how it looks. In the future the aviators will likely try [illegible] and after getting them up [illegible] at an angle of forty five [illegible] how it would go [illegible]

In dissolving the Standard Oil Company and making thirty five small ones out of it you should remember that thirty five small strongholds. Infant industries, might need some special protection in the way of legislation. When you get your imagination that far it will be a small stretch to see what might happen. The people will have to pay for the change.

Just as soon as the town can run together a little surplus money some of it ought to be spent grading the streets down so that they can be crossed without taking a running jump. Some places where ditches were dug for the paving need attention and have for some time but we understand that there is no funds available for this purpose yet.

Aunt Living Sarah so it comes from Paris is to marry a young art[illegible] or [illegible] years old. Aunt Sarah who has been making farewell tours of America for forty years is up like 67 years old and is a great grandmother in her own rights. She has probably made her last farewell tour of this country.

It probably doesn't matter now, if they never know what blew up the Maine. For several years we had our hands full with the Cuban situation and the Philippine situation and about the time we thought they could stand alone we start out to find what started the row.

Not all the people who turned out to hear the talk of ex Col Lowman didn't show by their actions that they endorsed him. He said about all a man might say who had been taken by the hand and lead out of the dance hall and then booted down stairs.

The United States has some faults and the manner of running the government is not what it should be, according to some, but we have not yet reached the period when reading of the presidential message is mandatory.

It is said that Lorimer is out making speeches against the initiative and referendum. When it comes to the recall, he naturally looks pained, and words cannot express his feelings of such a law.

It looks like if Taft's cold gets any worse we will be compelled to give him some of the guaranteed remedies, to cure a cold in one day. He will want to go somewhere in a few days.

shown down that the "women" will smoke, if they insist on it, but the practice will have to start in New York, or Chicago or Pittsburg.

The low price of cotton hasn't effected the price of cotton seed as much as it usually does. Fortunately there is still a stiff demand for this product.

Now listen at the Atchison Globe: Southerners are so polite that a republican president is always given far down there except on election day.

We who buy oil and gasoline will probably know no difference in the price since the Standard Oil Company is to be dissolved.

Almost every town you can think of is expecting to get a railroad. If they have one they want another.

The Wilson who is fixing to get the skids put under him is not Woodrow but Tama Jim.

EAGLETTES

It depends upon what sort of a crowd you are in as to what you can say about the different makes of automobiles. To hit both, we know a man who has forethought enough to get both a low price and a high price car.

There are so many people in this world going ahead attending to their own business reasonably happy till it doesn't look like others would count for much.

It is good to be a country editor in Alabama where there are so many good things brought in for a sample.

There are few people living in this town [illegible] to tend to their own business and stay off the streets so much till they are hardly known.

Few people ever really win anything in a law suit.

Santa Claus hasn't driven a team of reindeers in this section in years and there is not telling how he will come next.

We have always wondered just what the milliners have to put on extra to cover the time of selling goods and taking them back.

When a man gets forty years old he can buy a shoe that will feel good on his foot. Just how old women have to get is something else.

WHO'LL BE QUEEN OF THE CARNIVAL?

BEAUTIFUL DIAMOND RING OFFERED

QUEEN TO BE CROWNED AT CARNIVAL GROUNDS LATE FRIDAY NIGHT, DEC 8

Who will be Queen of the Carnival?

The fair sex of Dothan will be mightily interested to know that one of their number is to be crowned Queen of the Dothan Guards Carnival Friday, December 8, at the carnival grounds, and that a beautiful diamond ring, the gift of the Dothan Guards, is to be presented to her on that occasion as a memento of the honor conferred upon her. They will also be interested in the news that two maids of honor are to be selected and that to the first of them will be presented a gold watch and to the other a gold bracelet.

If the officers of the Dothan Guards could have their way every young lady in Dothan would be queen of the carnival. But, unfortunately, that is impossible. It seems to be the rule that there can be only one queen in any one place whether it be a kingdom or a beehive. So here is the way the queen of the Dothan Carnival and her two maids will be selected.

The people of Dothan and Houston county and everybody else who may be interested will say who is to be the queen of the carnival.

They will vote on it and the young lady who on the last day of the carnival has the greatest number of votes will be crowned queen and the next will be maids of honor.

The voting is to begin next Saturday morning, the day after tomorrow, and to continue until the last day of the carnival. Ballot boxes will be placed in several much frequented places in the business district, and anyone who complies with the conditions may cast one vote, or as many votes as he pleases, there. Voting envelopes will be distributed tomorrow, and the race will start the next morning. The price of the votes is one cent each, and if your envelope contains a quarter, you cast twenty-five votes for the young lady whose name is on the outside, if a dollar, you cast a hundred votes and so on.

The contest for the choosing of the Queen of the Carnival will be conducted by the Krause Amusement Company, who are to furnish the big midway attractions for the carnival. H. Freedman, one of the promoters of the company, arrived in Dothan Tuesday and completed the arrangements with the officers of the Dothan Guards for the contest.

GOT THE HODGES MIXED

We got the Hodges family a little mixed yesterday afternoon by stating that the W M Hodges who was tried before Judge [illegible] and [illegible] allowed bail of $200 for forgery was the same [illegible] who was arrested several weeks ago in Savannah for forgery. He [illegible] was arrested in [illegible] last week charged with selling or removing mortgaged property on a warrant sworn out by [illegible] of the Dothan National Bank. The other Hodges was tried about three weeks ago at Thomasville and was sent to the penitentiary for eight years. However the Dothan Hodges is a father to the younger Hodges that fleeced the Thomasville bank.

WARD ONE MEETING

Ward one of the City Improvement club will meet tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock with Mrs Florence. All are urged to attend.

Digestive Properties of Eggs.

The latest news of how eggs go in the stomach is: Two freshest soft boils, one and three-quarters hours; two raws, two and one-quarter hours; hard boils, three hours; omelette, three hours. The figures speak for themselves but do not tell the whole truth, for it looks as if soft boils are more easily digested than raws, whereas raws are so bland and gentle as not to excite the flow of the gastric juices—not a single squirm of the stomach.—New York Press.

Love's Spirit Stirring

"Jedge," said the old colored citizen, "how much fer a license ter git married?" "Want it for yourself?" "Yes suh, you see I gittin' mighty old now." "That's evident. Then why do you wish to get married?" "Well, jedge, ter tell de truth, somebody gimme a long coat, a linen collar an' a walkin' cane, en I knows a ooman what says she kin make a livin' fer me, en I feels des like a honeymoon."—Atlanta Constitution.

The Treacherous Hens.

A story which was doubtless invented to illustrate the thoroughness of Prussian rule wherever the Prussian black and white has established itself is repeated in [illegible] Hole's [illegible] book, "The [illegible]" [illegible] of the [illegible] at [illegible] has generally been held to [illegible] with the various [illegible] about the [illegible] after the [illegible] and the [illegible] Prussian [illegible].

Well, the gendarme is made to say in truly terrible [illegible], "Are you all good Prussians here? No Hanoverian nonsense, eh?"

"Oh," the trembling old woman replies, "we are all good Prussians now—all except the hens."

"The hens? What do you mean?" roars the gendarme, sniffing hidden insubordination.

"Ah," says the old country wife, "they will persist in laying Hanoverian eggs always white and yellow. I cannot get them to lay black and white Prussian eggs."—Youth's Companion.

An Oregon Woman's Conscience

Confessing that she had told a train ticket agent her child was under five years of age when in fact she was over six years old and under such pretence succeeded in securing free transportation for her, a woman appeared at a local Southern Pacific ticket office this morning and tendered the agent $3. She said the incident occurred about three years ago and that she had since been troubled by her conscience.

"I do not think I could right myself with God until I had paid the debt," declared the woman as she hastened from the ticket office.

The woman refused to give her name. Southern Pacific officials here declare that today's donation is the first conscience money ever received at this office.—Roseburg correspondence, Portland Oregonian.

Phosphate lands which a year or two ago were withdrawn from entry for settlement by the federal government constitute, it is said, the greatest known phosphate deposits in the world. These lands occupy nearly [illegible] of Lincoln county in Wyoming [illegible] of Morgan, Rich [illegible] counties in Utah and of Bear Lake [illegible] in Idaho, making in all about 7,5[illegible] square miles of territory, which is more or less underlaid by the phosphate rock. Besides these vast natural deposits it is pointed out that the gases from the smelters at Butte and Anaconda, which are very injurious to vegetation, may be made to yield sulphuric acid for the manufacture of superphosphate fertilizers.

South Dakota Artesian Wells.

East of the Missouri river in South Dakota more than 1,000 artesian wells now exist, drawing their water from the supply carried by the underlying sandstone formation and supposed to come from the Black hills and the Rocky mountains. These wells, used mainly for irrigation purposes, are from 500 to 1,000 feet deep, and the pressure of water in the eastern part of the state is sufficient to give a surface flow, except on the highest lands. One well yields 3,292 gallons a minute and furnishes power for a flour mill by day and for an electric light plant by night. The development of this source of water supply is still going forward.

Ocean Phenomenon

In a recent pilot chart of the British meteorological office many observations of the singular phenomenon called "white water" are collected. It is more frequently seen in the tropical parts of the Indian ocean than anywhere else, and it impresses some observers as weird, ghastly and awe inspiring. The ocean has a milky look and the ship seems to be passing through a kind of luminous fog, in which sea and sky appear joined and the sense of distance is lost. The phenomenon is believed to be due to some form of phosphorescence, but a satisfactory explanation of it is yet lacking.

MEXICAN FEDERAL TROOPS DEFEAT REBEL FORCES

Mexico City, Nov. 22.—Adherents of General Reyes and federal troops clashed at San Nicholas in Queretaro state Monday, according to a news dispatch received here today.

Three hundred men under Candido [illegible] were routed by 300 loyal soldiers from San Isidore. A few rebels were killed, forty others are reported wounded and many made prisoner.

Jose [illegible] Del Valle, [illegible] here today with [illegible] sent to Washington [illegible] of the resolution in favor of General Reyes. Senor Del Valle, formerly manager of Reyes political campaign, is now in San Antonio.

Laredo, Tex., Nov. [illegible].—Officers returned to Laredo today with five horses which they had seized at a ranch near Aguilares in this county on the charge that they were held there for use by persons preparing to engage in a revolt in Mexico.

From a train arriving here today it was learned that at [illegible] miles south, an important Mexican station where 100 soldiers are stationed, a train is held ready to transport troops to the border on short notice.

Now [illegible] Southerners are to realize that a Republican president is always [illegible] down there except on election day.

GIVE GIRL TO BOARDER

Chicago, Nov. 22.—A mother and father were sentenced to six months imprisonment by Judge Goodnow after they admitted in dispassionate manner that they had approved of their young daughter living as the common law wife of W[illegible] [illegible] grand jury.

[illegible] Olga [illegible] 15 years old. Her mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. John [illegible], testified that the [illegible] at their home with their approval and justified their actions by saying that P[illegible] was going to marry Olga as soon as she was old enough to obtain a license.

CITY OF NANKING FALLS INTO HANDS OF REBELS

Tien Tsin, Nov. 22.—The city of Nanking is reported to have fallen and the Chinese rebels are said to be massacring the Manchu troops in revenge for the recent slaughter of natives.

Several hours before this report reached here news was received that the fall of the city was imminent, the rebels attacking in great numbers and having cut off all food supplies.

News Disseminators

A minister at a camp meeting was delivering a discourse on pride, and in cautioning the ladies against it, he said: "And you, dear sisters, may feel proud that our Lord paid you the distinguished honor of appearing first to one of you after the resurrection, but you have no reason for it, as it was undoubtedly done that the glad tidings might spread sooner."

Use of Cocoanut

Purchase the raw nut rather than the desiccated cocoanut. It is easily put through the food cutter, and if the finest knife is used it gives a more easily digested article for cakes or candies than the dried product. If more is ground than can be used, mix sugar with it and dry. It will keep indefinitely.—Good Housekeeping.

Few There Are Who Learn Wisdom

A Chicago woman tried to undo a hard knot in her dress by burning it. She succeeded in exactly the same swift, comprehensive way in which the reluctant morning fire is started with kerosene. So few are the wise people who learn from experience of the foolish ones.

John Wesley [illegible] cheerfulness. In his journal he writes: "I preached in Halifax to a civil, senseless congregation. Three or four gentlemen put me in mind of the honest man at London who was so gay and unconcerned while Doctor Sherlock was preaching concerning the Day of Judgment. One asked: 'Do you not hear what the doctor says?' He answered, 'Yes, but I am not of his parish.'"

Pots and Kettles

I saw a friend impatiently cleaning a burnt pot. I said to her: "Fill that with cold water, put in a teaspoonful of baking soda, cover and set in the oven. When it has boiled half an hour it will be as easy to wash as a coffee cup." Clean fish and meat roasting pans in the same way.—Good Housekeeping.

City Without Pawnbrokers

Quebec is a city without pawnbrokers, the last person in that business having died about thirty years ago. Since that time, it is said, no person has applied for a license. The high license fee is held responsible to a considerable extent for this unusual state of affairs.

Bees Broke Up Church Services

A unique occurrence broke up the service in the German Lutheran church at Chicago the other Sunday. A swarm of honey bees invaded the building and drove out the pastor and congregation and services had to be held on the lawn in front of the church.

Live in the Present

It is common to overlook what is here, by keeping the eye fixed on something remote. In the same manner, present opportunities are neglected and attainable good slighted by minds busied in extensive ranges and intent upon future advantages.

One of Life's Problems

We are involved so early in the prejudices of so many whose interest is concerned to communicate them to us that it becomes extremely difficult to distinguish through the rest of life what is natural to us and what is artificial.

The Power of Prayer

The seventy second annual report of Muller's Orphanage at Bristol, for which no appeal is ever made except by prayer to God, shows that the income last year was nearly £30,000.—London Times.

Plenty of It

women has begun in earnest in the state of Washington, and will be watched by the rest of the country with great interest. Our ancestors, in their blindness, fancied that the revelations of the law courts were sometimes unfit for the ears of the gentler sex. But the women of Washington have repudiated the gentler sex idea and countless women of other states are trying to do likewise. Women have for years defied the old conventions, and the proprieties, too, and thronged courtrooms in which evidence really unfit for any ears had to be endured by judges, lawyers and jurors and they have seemed to enjoy it. That the gift of logic was withheld from woman has been frequently asserted, though never proved, but the logic of male jurors in the state of Washington has not been noticeably strong. There is no privilege the men would more willingly resign to the women than jury duty.—New York Times

Dynamite Demonstrating

Farming by Dynamite is New But Effective.

On Next Saturday, at the Dr. D. D. Stephens Farm,

Near Town we will have a man to demonstrate the value of dynamiting land before planting. Every farmer in this section of the country is invited to be present. The use of dynamite cannot be overestimated in land breaking. It is cheaper, and one good breaking lasts for 10 years.

This demonstration work will be carried on all day. Many people are expected to be present.

FRIENDS OF THE FARMER.

The Department of Agriculture has come to the relief of the grosbeak. He is a very much maligned bird this high authority avers and instead of being destructive to crops is of great benefit to the farmer. A bulletin just issued by Secretary Wilson says that seven kinds of finches known as grosbeaks summer within the four corners of the United States. They are easily distinguished from other finches by their stout form, bright plumage, massive bills and melodious voices. The [illegible] which most interest the farmer are five in number—the rose breasted, the cardinal or redbird, the black headed, the blue and the gray. The bulletin concludes as follows: "Present investigations prove that the services of the grosbeak in destroying insect pests are invaluable. Each kind pays especial attention to certain pests which if unchecked would cause enormous loss. Few of our birds are to be credited with more good and with fewer evils than the grosbeak, and none more clearly deserves protection by the practical farmer." The probability is that the farmer would do better to protect the whole race of birds than to look with toleration on their indiscriminate slaughter.

Public opinion seems hopeful enough, so far as what it believes is concerned, but it is not aggressive. One can hear on all sides strong expressions against this wrong and that, but when it comes to the suppression of these wrongs public sentiment is inactive and inert. Antagonism contents itself with private and quiet denunciation. It holds itself aloof. It contents itself with knowing an evil should be suppressed, says the Ohio State Journal. It comforts itself with the thought that there is virtue in that—that thinking a thing is wrong is taking sides against it. But that won't do. Men must act or speak out. They must make their influence felt either in strong words or deeds or in organization. But for a man to talk his faith upon matters of public import is a duty as much as in being pure and honest. There are men who do not add a mite to public sentiment. One can hardly hear them speak above a whisper. They are as cautious as if they were going through a swamp. Progress and civilization do not owe a farthing to such men. They are victims of their pride and fear and would not be missed if they disappeared."

Another rich American girl is to marry an English nobleman. The next generation of the British peerage will be as much American as English, if these international marriages keep on, and with such an infusion of Americanism, even the famous British conservatism and love of tradition may give way to a startling extent. But the nation seems not to care for this American danger as long as it can assimilate so much of the American cash.

The Female Housefly.

A female house fly which has hibernated in a dwelling house, or elsewhere may produce in the spring, at the lowest estimate 120 eggs. Assuming that one-half of these hatch as females and [illegible] that the breeding [illegible] for four months [illegible] flies. Now a house fly [illegible] one-fourth of an inch in length [illegible] 24 [illegible] miles. It would take therefore [illegible] to go around the [illegible] number as a denominator and the number of flies produced in four months from one mother as a numerator we find she will give rise in the course of a summer to enough flies to encircle the globe at the equator 5,000 times and have plenty of progeny to spare.—Professor F. L. Washburn in Popular Science Monthly.

Blistering Once Universal.

Blistering formerly was an almost universal treatment for internal congestion to draw the diseased fluid to the surface. It acted as a counter-irritant. It was also used for sciatica. Blistering is still used to a considerable extent, but a milder application is more frequently employed.

EVEN BLACKBIND HAS SENSE

He Limits His Hours of Labor as Strictly as Any Union Workman

There's some common sense even in a blackbird. A small army of those dusky feathered fliers have been demonstrating each day that they observe hours of labor just as strictly as any workman in town.

Living in the big aged trees on Bethany College campus are thousands of these blackbirds. Each night they perch in the topmost branches of these trees. Each morning at daybreak they leave their homes and fly in great numbers to the east side of the city. There they remain all day doing their work of gaining a living in the fields at the outskirts of town.

But they don't work overtime, not these birds. Each evening at exactly six o'clock the leaders fly west to their homes at Bethany grounds again. The leaders are followed by hundreds of other birds of the black wing. They fly in a straight line several blocks in length. Many persons in Topeka have been watching the birds for some time and have observed that they never fail to return from their day's work at the same time each evening.—Topeka Capital.

Too Plebeian

Russian caviare is now touted as a cure for cholera. One will notice that the doctors were too proud to discover corned beef and cabbage or something within the reach of all.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Jerrold's Biting Wit

Albert Smith once wrote an article in Blackwood signed "A. S." "But," said Jerrold on reading the initials, "what a pity Smith will only tell about two-thirds of the truth."

It has become unfashionable to stay up all night in Newport. Somebody must have succeeded in getting the people who spend their summers at Newport to understand that staying up all night causes wrinkles.

"It makes us laugh," says the Farm Journal, "when the old rooster finds a worm and cackles over it until he gets all the hens around him and then gobbles the worm up himself. 'Tis funny, so like human nature."

A dozen chickens were hatched out by the sun when a Massachusetts hen deserted her nest during the recent hot spell. That hen ought to be ashamed to look her chicks in the faces.

CANADA HAS 5,000 HINDUS

Parliament of Religions in Chicago at World's Fair Time Started the Immigration.

The present Hindu population of Canada numbers about 5,000, all men, for no women are allowed to accompany them to Canada or to follow them after they have arrived and settled.

These are resident entirely in British Columbia and chiefly in the cities of Vancouver and Victoria and on the farms in the neighborhood, where they are industriously employed in the many forms of manual labor, for which they appear to have both special adaptation and desire.

I am indebted to Dr. Sunder Singh, the accredited agent for these people in Canada, for the statement as to how the eyes of the Hindus were first turned toward America and Canada and the first beginnings of [illegible] emigration from India were inspired. He says that the visit of Hindu religious reformers to the great parliament of religions which was held in Chicago in connection with the world's fair first aroused these people to an appreciation of the advantages of occidental civilization and democratic institutions.

The educational work carried on by American missionaries in the high schools of India also prepared the way [illegible] and seed in a ready soil [illegible] of which turned the eyes of [illegible] Hindus toward this new [illegible] conditions in India [illegible] movement of emigration [illegible] in 1905 when many [illegible] not a few came to [illegible] Daily Times.

All this [illegible] the work of the music school settlement, whose backers believe pianos are better than policemen.

"[illegible] going to play the piano with dirty hands any more," said one [illegible] year-old of the slums. The study of music will work greater wonders than this in the moral and physical lives of the poor.

There is to be established a children's and wage earner's orchestra with free lectures on music and a chance for all to study.

The result in a generation will surprise the police authorities. The love of music will keep in the straight path many an otherwise uncertain foot.
